

Welcome to Quest Women!

Women play an active role in many Quest local groups and at the national level.

Hello and a very warm welcome from the Women's Officers!

Quest operates a number of mixed groups across England and Scotland. For more information on your nearest group please phone our free helpline number 0808 808 0234, or write to us as the address below, or check out the Quest local groups page on the website at <http://www.questgaycatholic.org.uk/home.asp>.

Hello, my name is Anne-Marie: I am the new National Women's Officer for Quest and the North-West Women's Officer. Over the last few years the other Women's Officers and I have put on a variety of events. (Please see below.) They have illustrated that women relish the opportunity to explore their faith in a welcoming environment. Personally, being able to exchange ideas with other women of faith in a safe space has been a truly liberating experience.

I would like to invite you to dip a toe in the water, and to try an event, or attend a local group meeting. You might feel a little nervous at first - we all do - but I think you'll be glad you did.

With best wishes
Anne-Marie
